Children and Teens aged 4-18 who have experienced the death of a parent join In-House Groups at our locations in West LA and Woodland Hills that are specific to the age of the child. Our School-Based Groups are free of charge in public elementary, middle, and high schools. The groups provide students a safe place to share their thoughts and feelings with other kids who are also grieving a family member or close friend.

In-House Groups located in West LA, Woodland Hills and Mid-City/Koreatown are specific to the age of the griever, the length of time since the death and the relationship to the person who died. Being with others who are experiencing similar feelings provides comfort and support, allowing grievers to move along their path towards hope and healing.

Adults served through In-House Groups located in West LA, Woodland Hills and Mid-City/Koreatown are specific to the age of the griever, the length of time since the death and the relationship to the person who died. Being with others who are experiencing similar feelings provides comfort and support, allowing grievers to move along their path towards hope and healing.

Future Doctors educated on how to speak with their patients on death and dying. Since 1998, our Medical Education program has been part of the curriculum for students at the USC Keck and UCLA David Geffen Schools of Medicine. We provide participants a unique interactive opportunity to learn from our grief experts and OUR HOUSE alumni, to take the step from being a good to a great doctor in the eyes of their patients and families.

Therapists, clergy, school personnel, and medical and hospice professionals were provided comprehensive grief Professional Education. These training enhance participants’ abilities to counsel grieving clients in both private practice and agency or organizational settings.

Spanish-speaking grievers served through our Spanish Satellite Program in our three centers and throughout the community for adults who have experienced the death of someone close. Over 15,000 served, reached, and educated since the program launch in 2014.

2018 IMPACT REPORT

Sharing Grief. Finding Hope.

BY THE NUMBERS

897 Children and Teens served from 2014-2018 who have experienced the death of a parent join In-House Groups at our locations in West LA and Woodland Hills that are specific to the age of the child. Our School-Based Groups are free of charge in public elementary, middle, and high schools. The groups provide students a safe place to share their thoughts and feelings with other kids who are also grieving a family member or close friend.

255 Campers served at Camp Erin, a weekend-long summer camp for children ages 6 through 17 providing an opportunity to express their grief while enjoying fun, outdoor activities. Children and teens connect with those who are also grieving the death of someone close, learn coping skills to use after camp ends, and honor their special person in memorial activities.

46,850 Hours of service clocked in 2018.

808 Adults served through In-House Groups located in West LA, Woodland Hills and Mid-City/Koreatown are specific to the age of the griever, the length of time since the death and the relationship to the person who died. Being with others who are experiencing similar feelings provides comfort and support, allowing grievers to move along their path towards hope and healing.

19,900 Adults, teens, and children served, educated, and reached in 2018.

353 A death in the workplace or school setting can profoundly affect an organization’s staff and community. Our On-Site Grief Response program offers a forum for the expression of shared grief. Clinical staff designs a response that suits the particular setting. Providing compassion and education to grieving employees or students allows the community to begin to heal.

212 Future Doctors educated on how to speak with their patients on death and dying. Since 1998, our Medical Education program has been part of the curriculum for students at the USC Keck and UCLA David Geffen Schools of Medicine. We provide participants a unique interactive opportunity to learn from our grief experts and OUR HOUSE alumni, to take the step from being a good to a great doctor in the eyes of their patients and families.

369 Spanish-speaking grievers served through our Spanish Satellite Program in our three centers and throughout the community for adults who have experienced the death of someone close. Over 15,000 served, reached, and educated since the program launch in 2014.

7,916 Therapists, clergy, school personnel, and medical and hospice professionals were provided comprehensive grief Professional Education. These trainings enhance participants’ abilities to counsel grieving clients in both private practice and agency or organizational settings.

19,900 Adults, teens, and children served, educated, and reached in 2018.

87,000 From 2014-2018 OUR HOUSE grew 7% annually and 87,000 people were served, educated, and reached.

255 Hours of service clocked in 2018.

7,916 Therapists, clergy, school personnel, and medical and hospice professionals were provided comprehensive grief Professional Education. These trainings enhance participants’ abilities to counsel grieving clients in both private practice and agency or organizational settings.

369 Spanish-speaking grievers served through our Spanish Satellite Program in our three centers and throughout the community for adults who have experienced the death of someone close. Over 15,000 served, reached, and educated since the program launch in 2014.

353 A death in the workplace or school setting can profoundly affect an organization’s staff and community. Our On-Site Grief Response program offers a forum for the expression of shared grief. Clinical staff designs a response that suits the particular setting. Providing compassion and education to grieving employees or students allows the community to begin to heal.

212 Future Doctors educated on how to speak with their patients on death and dying. Since 1998, our Medical Education program has been part of the curriculum for students at the USC Keck and UCLA David Geffen Schools of Medicine. We provide participants a unique interactive opportunity to learn from our grief experts and OUR HOUSE alumni, to take the step from being a good to a great doctor in the eyes of their patients and families.

7,916 Therapists, clergy, school personnel, and medical and hospice professionals were provided comprehensive grief Professional Education. These trainings enhance participants’ abilities to counsel grieving clients in both private practice and agency or organizational settings.

369 Spanish-speaking grievers served through our Spanish Satellite Program in our three centers and throughout the community for adults who have experienced the death of someone close. Over 15,000 served, reached, and educated since the program launch in 2014.

19,900 Adults, teens, and children served, educated, and reached in 2018.

87,000 From 2014-2018 OUR HOUSE grew 7% annually and 87,000 people were served, educated, and reached.

255 Hours of service clocked in 2018.

808 Adults served through In-House Groups located in West LA, Woodland Hills and Mid-City/Koreatown are specific to the age of the griever, the length of time since the death and the relationship to the person who died. Being with others who are experiencing similar feelings provides comfort and support, allowing grievers to move along their path towards hope and healing.

19,900 Adults, teens, and children served, educated, and reached in 2018.

353 A death in the workplace or school setting can profoundly affect an organization’s staff and community. Our On-Site Grief Response program offers a forum for the expression of shared grief. Clinical staff designs a response that suits the particular setting. Providing compassion and education to grieving employees or students allows the community to begin to heal.

212 Future Doctors educated on how to speak with their patients on death and dying. Since 1998, our Medical Education program has been part of the curriculum for students at the USC Keck and UCLA David Geffen Schools of Medicine. We provide participants a unique interactive opportunity to learn from our grief experts and OUR HOUSE alumni, to take the step from being a good to a great doctor in the eyes of their patients and families.

369 Spanish-speaking grievers served through our Spanish Satellite Program in our three centers and throughout the community for adults who have experienced the death of someone close. Over 15,000 served, reached, and educated since the program launch in 2014.

7,916 Therapists, clergy, school personnel, and medical and hospice professionals were provided comprehensive grief Professional Education. These trainings enhance participants’ abilities to counsel grieving clients in both private practice and agency or organizational settings.
“I am so thankful for OUR HOUSE. It saved me. I have understanding friends and family but being in this group was invaluable. I have made lifelong friends and a support system. Thank you! I would recommend to anyone.”

“I came to OUR HOUSE after my dad died. His death was so sudden and unexpected, and OUR HOUSE wrapped me up, gave me community, showed me I wasn’t alone, held space for me to have every one of my feelings, and encouraged me to deeply address my grief. Even after my group ended, I found myself falling back on the lessons and connections learned in my group, as I navigated finding my new normal after my dad’s death.”

From a camper to a future camper: “Camp Erin is legit the best! Everyone is so kind, and you will instantly make friends so don’t worry! This camp is just what you will need trust me! Just remember, don’t be afraid to talk to people about your feelings. Nobody will judge. Everyone here will support you! Just keep smiling, and when you’re not, remember you are not alone!”

Translated from Spanish: “Sometimes I feel that the only thing people want me to do is ‘get over’ what happened to my son and this does not help me heal…in group I have learned that I can share and not be judged, even if I share the same thoughts and feelings each time…I have found a place that understands this need.”

“This presentation brought me out of my comfort zone and made me confront an aspect of medicine and life in general that always made me uncomfortable. The alumni panel was particularly helpful, as hearing what physicians do and don’t do well in consoling others is very applicable to my own professional development.”

Jake Riding, “OUR HOUSE was incredibly helpful to me in the aftermath of my dad’s death. It provided me with a safe space to talk to other kids going through the same terrible experience. Similarly, to learning how to ride a bike, I will never forget the tips and skills OUR HOUSE taught me. From helping me make my memories of my dad more concrete to teaching me how to let go of the bad feelings associated with grief, I attribute to how I act today to OUR HOUSE. After going through group, I knew I wanted to give back and help other kids in my position, so I became a Teen Leader. Losing a loved one is by far one of the hardest things a kid can go through and it takes a loving community to help them.”